|  |  |
|--|--|
| Name of the host institution abroad:   |  |
| Faculty or other organisational unit:  |  |
| Country:   |  |
| Address:   |  |
| Name and surname of the academic supervisor at the host institution who can confirm willingness to host the applicant: |  |
| Planned start and end date of the international internship:  |  |
| Duration of the internship (in months):  |  |

1. Reputation and scientific standing of the host institution, and academic achievements of the supervisor:

Evaluation will consider the host institution's international recognition and relevance to the discipline, achievements of the research group in which the internship will take place, the academic position of the supervisor (including their international standing in the discipline), and justification for selecting the host institution in relation to the activities planned in the application.

|                    |                |
|--------------------|----------------|
|                    |                |
| Maximum points: 20 | Points awarded |

2. Scope and implementation of the planned activities

Evaluation will consider the scientific merit of the planned activities, research methods, expected outcomes—particularly applications for international research grants, publications in journals with a centile value of at least 80, or international patents—adequacy of internship duration to the proposed work, and alignment with the applicant's individual research and development plan.

|                    |                |
|--------------------|----------------|
|                    |                |
